FEDERAL OFFICERS INVESTIGATE REPORT OF RANSOM DEMAND

SPOKESMAN FOR URSCHEL
FAMILY ASKS NEWSPAPER
VIGILANCE TO RELAX

TULSA, Okla., July 27.—(P)—Federal detectives are presently here today investigating the report that a carrier boy for the Tulsa World who said he had been stopped by four men in an automobile early this morning and given a "ransom note" addressed to Mrs. Charles F. Urschel, whose husband was kidnapped at Oklahoma City late Saturday night.

The boy's name was not learned immediately. He gave the note, written on the back of a blank check of the Exchange National Bank, Tulsa, to authorities. It stipulated $10,000 as the ransom price.

The boy said he was stopped shortly after he started his tour at 4 a. m. in the north part of the city. He said one of the men, a heavy-set fellow, asked him if he wanted to "make $100" and handed the note over. It was not learned whether the boy collected the money.

Investigators were inclined to place no credence in the "ransom note."

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 27.—(P)—A request that the press and the public relax its close watch on the ordinary movements of intermediaries and others of the household was made today by a spokesman for the family of Charles F. Urschel, kidnapped Oklahoma oil millionaire.

Arthur Seligson, attorney-associate of Urschel, said he felt too much interest in the activity about the kidnappers up to now, who have not sent any word to indicate whether the missing man still is safe.

"I realize the story is of wide interest, but I do not feel that we have done one bit of good up to now and believe we should change our tactics somewhat," said Seligson.

Mrs. Urschel is bearing up bravely under the long strain.

to the consideration of the oil men, but observation of some of the industry leaders has led to the step that they had felt an agreement in the industry would be an impossibility.

Proposal Guarded.

When the administration proposal was made was guarded.

work progressed, but some thought that there probably would be provisions for pipe line.

in accordance with the plan given for the industrial recovery for the President to the subject.

It was expected that the code would be designed to allocate production equitably between the states, without what factors might be considered and felt that it would not insure adequate supplies for independent refiners.

Distinction was made between the code for the hearing, one written by a group that recently in Chicago under the auspices of the American Petroleum Institute and the other by a number of independent refiners led by Jack Blaine of Marshall, Tex.

The Chicago code made no provision for pipe line regulation, and the independent refiners' code provided for lease and agency, one permitting the system and the other permitting its continuation.

Sharp Fight.

Consequently, the emergency national code of 54 for the industry, set up under the Chicago code, voted 21 to 13 to prohibit the lease and agency system in a sharp fight between independent refiners and the system who favored prohibiting the system, and the majority of major companies that wanted to continue it.

The independent code sought to prohibit the system and on production, and the oil flow to the demand be measured out on the basis of the states' ability to produce and the demand for the demand to be met.

The federal code, such as the Bureau of the Institute-advocated plan suggested that production be allocated equitably, without going in the direction of the states' demand, but that the stripper be called because they drain the last drop from an oil field.

the tables. Her glance swept the places from which diners had departed and where the remains of their breakfasts still lay.

She came to the table where Henry Jellinek had sat. His plate was there. On it were the remains of his poppy seed rolls—a whole one and a half of one; a half loaded with death.

Swiftly she snatched up the untouched roll. She tucked it into her handbag. She would eat that later.

Her fingers trembled about the remaining half roll.

In the washroom Henry Jellinek was dying of poison.

The woman lifted the roll, its broken crust peppered with poppy seed, to her mouth.

She ate it.

An hour later she was dead.

That is the theory police offered today for the death of Henry Jellinek and Lillian Fields, two strangers who breakfasted on a roll.

The bottle which contained the liquid poison had not been found. That gave rise to other possibilities. Still, the bottle could have been disposed of before the roll was touched or after Jellinek left the table.

Or she may have intended to take medicine in the roll and by mistake took poison.

Not every point in the double death is yet clear. Some, such as what happened to the poison container, are as dark as the cheerless cellar that Lillian Fields—with a fortune in the bank—called home.

first three years. After that he will make annual or semi-annual payments on the principal until it is retired after ten years.

This is a typical case in which the loan is expected to be of value to the farmer.

A farmer has a mortgage on his land and a lien on his cattle, sheep and horses. He has fallen behind in payments of interest and is threatened with foreclosure.

An appraisal of his property shows its normal value, covering land and chattels, is $10,000. His debt total $6,500. It is possible in his case to make a loan up to $1,000.

The loan is made, secured by a second mortgage on his land and property.

With the $1,000 he makes his back payments, pays his overdue interest and is in a position to proceed without fear of immediate foreclosure.

The hope of the administration is that farm income will be improved in time to make it possible for him to retire the bigger debt.

Information About Signing Agreement

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(P)—Here's the procedure you should follow when the mailman brings the President's re-employment agreement around if you want to subscribe.

Fill out the agreement form, place it in the attached addressed envelope and mail it.

Keep the other form, a certificate of compliance, until August 1 or until you have put the terms of the agreement into effect. Then present it at the post office.

You will get there a "blue eagle" or sticker to put in the window. You may keep it there so long as you abide by the terms of the agreement.

If you want more posters and stickers, authorized local committees or dealers will have them. If the mailman doesn't bring a blank today wait until tomorrow or the next day and then get one from the postmaster or your local campaign committee.

Business Men Are Falling In Line On Blanket Agreement

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(P)—American businessmen today began recording official, definite pledges to do their part in President Roosevelt's mighty re-employment effort.

The first of the agreement blanks which are to go to 6,000,000 employers for signature were being distributed, along with addressed envelopes that will take back to Washington the individual promises to increase purchasing power by working longer hours.

The agreement forms not delivered today will be taken around the country tomorrow and next day so that by August 1, storekeepers, industrialists, garage men, banker, baker, and every conceivable type of employer may present to his postmaster evidence that he has agreed to change a poster with the blue eagle and the legend: "We Do Our Part."

Already President Roosevelt and Hugh S. Johnson, his industrial recovery lieutenant, had definite evidence from an avalanche of telegrams that thousands would comply immediately, mailing back their forms today.

Meantime, Johnson worked to remove the hesitation of many who found that arbitrary interpretations of the agreement's clauses would affect their business seriously.

Last night he and his principal assistants began working out a way to interpret the most knotty questions. They promised to announce decisions today.

Several hundred labor and commercial units which have volunteered to lead nation-wide campaigning to put the plan across received instructions to set up militarized organizations with a general and lieutenant general, the latter a woman, in each community, heading a big staff.

These units will step into action three or four weeks hence. In the final week of the drive they will make a block by block canvass to make sure of compliance by pledge-making employers, to get after any who have not joined, to survey the unemployed, determine what work they are suited to, and help place them.

Coincidentally with this work on the emergency drive, Johnson and his officials began hammering into shape codes on which no suitable agreement was reached in open hearing, and making arrangements for a steady succession of public sessions on more of these lasting compacts of industry. One such code for shipbuilders was promulgated last night by the President.

campaign, together with detailed instructions to local committees, were being shipped.

More than 17,000,000 pieces were being distributed.

Intensive work proceeding on the substitute codes for portions of the oil industry which the recovery administration has undertaken to whip into shape by Monday.

Revise Lumber Code.

Similarly, a committee of the lumber industry was trying to revise labor and price control terms of its own code to conform with administration policy.

A new code was received from the retail coal industry, accompanied by a request that its members be allowed to put its labor terms into effect immediately in place of the slightly more stringent ones of the blanket voluntary agreement.

Hearings continued on the code for men's clothing industry taken up yesterday and a new hearing was begun for the rayon manufacturing trade.

Donald Richberg, the administration's general counsel, with Thomas S. Hammond, director of the re-employment drive, and others were whipping into shape the interpretations on the blanket agreement. They hope to have them ready late this week.

Important Questions.

Important questions at stake included whether employers of labor now under contract will be expected to reduce working hours while maintaining the current rate of pay, whether employers with a formal code of fair competition calling for longer work hours and lower wages than the blanket agreement could put into effect their own terms temporarily, and still receive the Blue Eagle badge of honor, and whether workers of all kinds paid on an hourly rate must receive as much wage as at present on the reduced schedule.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, insisted that no contracts between employers and labor should be allowed to stand in the way of carrying out the terms of the agreement on a voluntary basis.

It was clearly indicated that the administration had no intention of applying the blanket agreement to agricultural employers and in fact expected to confine its use generally to urban areas.

Domestic employment also is not intended to be brought under its provision.

Business Men Are Falling In Line On Blanket Agreement

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(P)—This is brief is what the President's re-employment agreement requires of those who sign it:

An employer of factory or mechanical workers or artisans will not pay them less than 40 cents an hour or work them more than 35 hours a week, unless he was paying less than 40 cents for the same work on July 15, 1932, in which case the rate at that time, but not less than 30 cents an hour, may be paid.

All employees paid on a weekly basis receive not less than $15 in a city of more than half a million; $14.50 in cities of quarter of a million up; $14 from quarter of a million down to 2,500 and no less than $12 below that. These may not be worked more than forty hours a week, except for specified cases.

Higher paid employees should not have wages reduced because the hours are cut, and a normal rate should be maintained between minimum and higher paid levels. Children under 16 may not be worked after August 31, except that those over 14 may work three hours in daylight so long as it doesn't interfere with day school hours.

Prices must not be raised any more than actual cost increases require.

plants in Michigan and other parts of the country.

The increase, he said, with the five per cent raise announced in May, makes the total increase 20 per cent.

Knudsen said the increase will be effective August 1.

In addition, Knudsen also announced that all salaried employees earning under $1,800 a year would be given an increase of 10 per cent. Officials of the company said that, by means of the increases, $1,250,000 in additional wages and salaries will be distributed to workers.

The Buick Motor company also announced a straight 15 per cent increase in wages to hourly rate employees, effective August 1. The increase follows one of five per cent announced last May.

Pampa Falls In Line.

PAMPA, Tex., July 27.—(P)—Pampa merchants as a unit last night telegraphed to President Roosevelt their support of his national recovery program.

C. H. Walker, chairman of the drive here, however, sounded a note of warning, expressing the fear that price raising and shorter hour agreements among business men in advance of new employment would nullify the results of the N. R. A. campaign. He noted that industries and not merchants were adding the most new men.

The retail merchants then adopted the slogan, "employ until it hurts."

Denton Merchants Comply.

DENTON, July 27.—(P)—Denton merchants are lining up rapidly with the employment program of the National Recovery Act and already a number of them have announced employment of more people and wage increases.

Dry goods, grocery, garage, insurance, furniture and cafe firms voted unanimously to comply with the shorter hours and more pay program and meetings are being held twice daily to bring other organizations into line.

Beginning in August, 1930, the company reduced wages 20 to 30 per cent, depending upon location.

ADMINISTRATORS OF FARM ACT PLANNING EXPORT OF WHEAT

PACIFIC NORTHWEST GROWERS ASK AID IN DISPOSING OF SURPLUS

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(P)—Farm administrators revealed today that they are planning for an increase of wheat exports from the Pacific coast to the Orient, and are prepared to use part of the proceeds of the processing tax on wheat to finance the program.

George N. Peek, chief administrator, said that Pacific northwest grain interests have appealed to him for assistance in disposing of surplus stocks of the grain on hand there and that administrators regard prompt action as necessary to prevent the Pacific wheat from being sold in the east in competition with middle western wheat.

Pacific coast grain interests reported "serious conditions" as a result of a new crop coming to market with seaport terminal storage space already congested with carryover wheat.

They informed Peek there are two alternatives to remedy the situation—one is exports to the Orient, the other to ship surplus western grain through the Panama Canal to Gulf and Atlantic ports in this country, and there the offer the grain for sale on competition with middle western grain stocks.

Administrators were informed that with present grain prices, Pacific coast wheat handlers could lay down wheat in eastern markets "under prices prevailing there for midwestern stocks."

"They pointed out," it was said, "that this would result in backing up wheat on Chicago and other markets with a corresponding effect on price."

BRAVE MAN BLEW A TRUMPET; HOSTS RALLIED TO FOLLOW HIM *

Romantic Story of Gideon a Study in Leadership—How Nation of Israel Was Lifted Out of "Depression" Worse Than Present One—Bits of Local Color.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

One day, while touring Palestine, I turned aside into the Valley of Jeruel, to visit "Gideon's Spring," which flows copiously from the hillside on the right side of the road. The valley is a beautiful one, with mountains and springs, and is not far from the passage of the Jordan; and this famous spring has been flowing ever since Gideon's chosen three hundred lapped from its waters.

Over the spring has been built a pumping station, to drive part of the water to two Zionist settlements further up the valley. A rather grouchily young Zionist is in charge that day, and he would not talk; so I could give my undivided attention to musing upon the scenes that have been enacted at this place of sweet water throughout the ages. Now it has been harnessed to serve communities of people from lands that were unknown in Gideon's day; just as his great story has been piped to all the world, to supply spiritual inspiration.

A Nation in Depression
Most of us are behaving as if the present depression were the worst that has ever befallen the world. A little bit of geographical and historical imagination would fortify our souls.

At the time of our Lesson story, Israel was undergoing a "depression" that staggers the imagination. For seven years, the people had been robbed and oppressed by the surrounding heathens, their crops and their goods boldly confiscated. Many were driven to hide in dens and caves, like the Covenanters in Scotland.

In religion, the whole nation had backslidden from the worship of Jehovah. So God was teaching them, by the old, old lesson of adversity—just as He is taking the world today into His woodshed—that recreancy to His laws can bring only suffering in its train.

A Man Appears
There is no denying that God's chief reliance on earth is always the individual man. And nobody can tell when the call may come to him, if he has kept himself fit.

"If only we strive to be pure and true, to each of us there will come an hour."

When the tree of life will burst into flower, and rain at our feet a glorious dower
Of something grander than ever we knew."

In this case, it was Gideon, son of Joash, the Abiezrite, who was summoned, while at his post of daily duty, secretly winnowing wheat to hide from the Midianites. Nobody hears God's voice while he is asleep, and Gideon was sleeping, as must be down among the people, at his humdrum tasks. Thus Gideon was surprised by an angel, with a call to service. At once Gideon replied with the inevitable "Why?" of the man confronted with incomprehensible conditions.

Further, like Moses, he pleaded his own unworthiness. No man's idea of his own qualifications ever squares with that of God. Gideon pleaded for a sign, and a fire came from heaven to consume the sacrifice that he brought; quite as was later done to Elijah's sacrifice on Carmel.

As a first step in his new mission—did he know how typical fundamental and essential was the act?—he built an altar to Jehovah, and destroyed the neighboring altar to Baal. The preachers are eternally right who are just now calling the people back to the worship of the living God, as the first step out of present woes. And there are also popular heathens that must be cast down.

"Conservatives" Protest
This "radical" act Gideon aroused his neighbors. The "conservatives" who secretly worshipped at their own private altars of the "status quo" (which a Negro preacher recently defined as "Latin for the money we in") wanted no interference with the established state of things, bad as that was. They feared reprisals from powerful neighbors, and a loss of their own security. So they sent a deputation to Joash to demand that Gideon be brought out and slain for his rashness.

"If Baal be a god, let him look out for himself," sharply replied the plucky old man. It is easy to see how Gideon got his courageous spirit. In open defiance, the father renounced his son "Jerubbaal," or the one who fights against Baal.

All this bad news. The tidings around the surrounding nations; but they also ran through Israel of a new hero and possible deliverer who had arisen, and people flocked to his presence, in the face of gathering peril.

The Trumpet is Blown
Clearly, a crisis had come. Gideon met it like a real leader. When the Spirit of God came upon him, he blew a trumpet, to challenge the enemy and to sum-

MASS MEETING BE HELD FRIDAY PLAN BACK ROOSEVELT

ACTION BE TAKEN BY CORSICANA BUSINESS INTERESTS BE DISCUSSED

A mass meeting will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock in the Palace theatre under the joint auspices of the Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants Association for the purpose of laying plans for the fulfillment of President Roosevelt's request for shorter hours and increase in pay in order that business conditions might be improved, it was announced Wednesday by Sydney Marks.

Mr. Marks stated that different groups, grocers, druggists, jewelers, dry goods and others had been requested to hold group meetings Thursday in order that they might have some definite plans to present to the mass meeting Friday morning.

Every effort possible, Mr. Marks said, would be made for Corsicana to do its part in the recovery program and definite plans are to be worked out at the meeting.

Among the first business institutions in Corsicana to announce adherence to the proposals of President Roosevelt was the Duke and Ayres store. The local manager has received a letter from Ezra S. Fudge, president of the concern, in which he says:

"This is to advise you that our organization is in hearty accord with the President's recovery program."

"As soon as our code is received, we will sign and comply with the terms thereof to the letter, doing all in our power to make it a great success."

"Thanks to our loyal customers, we have been able to maintain a fair wage throughout the depression, and have not been forced to lay off any employees."

"Therefore, we would feel ourselves ungrateful indeed if we did not do all we could in the promotion of any program for the general good of the whole people."

In connection with the recovery program the independent retail grocery merchants will hold a meeting in the county court room Thursday night at 8 o'clock to hear Roger Q. Flournoy, secretary of the Texas Retail Grocers Association, explain the state and national codes that have been presented to the grocery merchants and also the blanket agreement being sent to all employers by President Roosevelt.

Navarro County Man Pushes Wheelbarrow To Top Pike's Peak

Hitch-hiking from Blooming Grove to Pike's Peak, Colorado, and back in five weeks time is the record set recently by J. W. Bramblett, of Blooming Grove, Bluer extraordinary. And to make the task harder—he pushed a home-made wheelbarrow ahead of him on the trip away from home, and on to the top of the noted Colorado peak.

The photograph above shows Bramblett about seven miles up the road to the summit of Pike's Peak with his barrow in front of him. The inscription on the program is "Old Corner Drug Store, Blooming Grove, Texas." Another Navarro county firm received recognition on the front of the vehicle.

The hiker left Blooming Grove on June 4, and returned on July 10, with an interesting account of his experiences on the trip, with which to regale his friends in the western portion of the county during the midsummer months.

STATE WILL PAY INTEREST AND PART BOND PRINCIPAL

The Board of County and District Road Independent of the State of Texas, under the budget made July 15, for 1934, per cent of the proceeds of one cent of the state gasoline tax, will pay all interest and 30 per cent of the maturing principal for bonds assumed by the state board, according to a letter received by C. E. McWilliams, Navarro county judge.

The state board assumed the bonds used in the construction and improvement of state highways last year and paid the interest on one-third or 33-1/3 per cent of the maturing principal in Consolidated Road District No. 1.

The Consolidated Road District No. 1 tax rate last year was 60 cents on the $100 valuation. It is expected the rate will be increased due to the decreasing of the state help and also due to the lowering of the tax valuations within the district. The valuations for the county last year were $21,707,010, of which $13,132,867 was within Consolidated Road District No. 1. No definite figures have been announced for the 1935 renditions, but it is generally accepted there will be a loss.

SOME INFORMATION ON LIQUOR STATUS IN NAVARRO COUNTY

IF TEXAS AND NAVARRO COUNTY VOTE WET CORSICANA BE ONLY WET SPOT

If the 3.2 per cent beer is legalized by the voters of Texas, Aug. 26, and if Navarro county votes for beer, Corsicana will be the only place in Navarro county where the bar can be legally sold unless the various dry precincts vote on a local option question at the same time of the general election, C. E. McWilliams, county judge, stated Wednesday morning.

Petitions are being circulated in Corsicana and it is understood in other communities to ask the commissioners court to call a county-wide election for Aug. 26, the same time the state election will be held, but the petitions have not been filed or presented. It will be necessary to have 500 signatures of qualified voters before the court will be required to call the election.

Must File Petition.
Judge McWilliams pointed out that it was necessary to file the petitions at least 20 days prior to the election, and in the event that any 3.2 beer petitions are to be filed for an election in Navarro county or any precinct of the county Aug. 26, they must be filed not later than Aug. 5.

The "wet" and "dry" chairmen of each state convention will appoint chairmen and vice chairmen of each county. The county chairmen or vice chairmen will appoint one assistant judge and one clerk in each voting precinct to assist in the approaching beer election, Aug. 26, under instructions on file in Judge McWilliams' office. These four appointees will assist in the holding of the election.

Wet and Dry Chairmen.
R. E. Owen, secretary to the Navarro county democratic executive committee, Corsicana, is county chairman of the organization for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, and W. A. Sims, Frost, is vice chairman.

C. G. Davidson, Corsicana, is chairman for the organization seeking retention of the Eighteenth Amendment. Plans for an intensive campaign will be launched. Several outstanding prohibitionists will speak here prior to the election, it was intimated, and U. S. Senator Morris Sheppard, au-

First Corsicana Bale of Cotton Brought 12 Cents

The Corsicana Cotton Mills bought the first bale of cotton that was brought to Corsicana this year, paying 12 cents per pound for it. The cotton was raised by M. M. Lord of the Pisgah Ridge community and was brought to Corsicana late Monday afternoon. It weighed 575 pounds, bringing $69.00 in addition to the seed and the premium of $65.75 that was raised.

Early Campaigns.
As early as September, 1885, prohibition campaigns have been conducted in Navarro county. The anti-prohibitionists won by a decisive majority in 1885 with 2,902 votes against prohibition as compared with 1,210 for prohibition. In 1902, the anti again won by a majority of 103 votes. Navarro county went "dry" by 650 votes in 1904. Another hotly contested election was staged in 1907. According to the returns of this election, the anti won by 12 votes, there being 2,500 anti and 2,488 pro votes. The election was contested and the local district court decided that the anti won by five votes. The case was appealed to the Court of Civil Appeals and that tribunal decided that the prohibitionists had won by 13 votes majority.

Prohibitionists again scored a victory in 1911 by polling 3,011 votes as compared with 2,609 votes for the anti. This was the last county-wide election. There were 5,620 votes cast which indicated a full strength vote and plenty of interest as this election was held prior to the time of woman suffrage.

Dawson Voted Often.
Figures compiled from the records by Judge McWilliams show that the citizens of Dawson also were divided and held six local option elections in addition to the county elections.

Results show that the anti were victorious three times and the pro won three times in local option elections at Dawson.

The first local option results at Dawson were:

1884—44 prohibition; 70 anti.

The last Dawson local option election was 1896 and the pro won, 853 to 274.

SENATOR MORRIS SHEPPARD TO SPEAK IN CORSICANA NIGHT OF AUGUST 4TH

Plans were made for an intensive campaign in Navarro county for the retention of the Eighteenth Amendment and against the legalizing of 3.2 beer at a meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday morning.

A committee composed of C. G. Davidson, chairman; W. T. Hipps, O. E. Scarborough and Rev. E. T. Miller was appointed to conduct the campaign and make arrangements for meetings.

Morris Sheppard, United States Senator from Texas, and one of the authors of the Eighteenth Amendment, will speak at the court house Friday night, Aug. 4, it was announced Wednesday.

Rev. James C. Crain of Indianapolis, Ind., is scheduled to address a mass meeting on the lawn of the First Methodist church, Sunday night, Aug. 13.

Neighbor Nations Will Settle Gran Chaco Troubles

(By The Associated Press)
An agreement between Paraguay and Bolivia to place mediation of their dispute in the Gran Chaco border area in the hands of Argentina, Brazil, Chile, and Peru has been announced at the Brazilian chancellery.

The Asuncion government was said to have confirmed the plan, but the Bolivian minister of foreign affairs, while not denying the reports, said it was inopportune to divulge details.

League of Nations expressed surprise, for two members of a League commission appointed to handle the dispute are en route to South America.

Babbit Hill (now Rushing), the "drys" won in 1887, 121 to 109, and again in 1900, 190 to 77.

Cryer Creek went "dry" in 1883, 99 to 13.

Local option elections were held frequently in various precincts of the county.

Grasshoppers In Imperial Valley In Great Numbers

EL CENTRO, Cal., July 25.—The worst grasshopper plague in 17 years is being experienced in Imperial Valley, producer of the nation's winter vegetables. Desperate in their efforts to destroy the pest, farmers plan to import pheasants in the hope the birds will eat the hoppers before the second crop sprouts.

Grapefruit has been devoured in the thousands. In token of the hoppers' appetite, A. B. Harrigan, horticultural commissioner, said the insects "eat their own kind."

"This is especially true," he added, "when poison hits some of the first stages and they get together. Other hoppers pounced upon them and finish them, leaving only legs."

FOUR MEN INJURED IN COLLAPSE ROOM STEEL OIL TANK

Four men were seriously injured Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock while working for Steel Tank Construction company of Dallas in tearing down a 200,000-gallon oil storage tank on a Tidal lease in the Corsicana Powell oil field.

The roof collapsed while the top was being removed, it was reported Wednesday morning. The four men were brought to local hospitals for treatment. The exact extent of their injuries was not determined Wednesday afternoon.

J. H. Thurston and Bud Thurston are at the P. and S. hospital. Thurston is suffering from a compound fracture of the wrist and other injuries. Howard received a badly injured ankle, knee, back and head. Tending physicians stated probably sustained minor internal injuries.

Clyde Doolen and J. E. E. are at the Navarro Clinic. Doolen resides near Angus and the other men live in Corsicana. Doolen received a severe back injury while Page's arm was broken by other injuries.

STEEL BODY

CHEVROLET There is only one type of body construction which Chevrolet will permit on the chassis of the cars it builds: That's the type which every test—and every experiment—and every experience has proved to be the safest, strongest, and best. Not steel alone, because steel alone is not enough. But a Fisher body of steel reinforced by hardwood! The same kind of construction used on practically all the highest-priced cars in America.

Chevrolet well knows that steel alone has one distinct advantage: it's cheaper. Steel alone is strong—up to a certain point. BUT—beyond that point, steel alone will bend and crumple under severe stress or shock. It takes the strength and supporting solidity of a hardwood reinforcement to give you the full protection and full satisfaction you want in a motor car body today.

If you're thinking of buying a new low-priced car, better watch this matter of bodies, and watch it carefully. Insist on steel reinforced by hardwood! Fortunately, the only low-priced car with this preferred type of body is also the only car with a proven valve-in-head six; with Fisher Ventilation; Cushion-Balanced Power; a Starterator. That car is Chevrolet—America's most economical automobile.

IN ANSWER TO A LADY'S LETTER

A lady writes to say that she does not understand why an 8-cylinder car does not cost more to run than a car with fewer cylinders. She refers to my statement that our Ford V-8 develops more power on a gallon of gas than any car we have made.

The use of 8-cylinders does not mean the addition of two or four extra fuel consumers. It is not, for example, a 4-cylinder engine multiplied by two. Our 8-cylinder engine takes the fuel supply of an ordinary 4-cylinder engine and divides it eight ways. And why?

By reducing four larger explosions into eight smaller ones, we get engine smoothness and quietness. Eight-cylinders indicate the way the gas is used, not the amount. It is just the difference between going upstairs in four long jumps or in eight ordinary steps.

Two things use up gas—bad engine design and useless car weight. Besides having an engine that gets a high percentage of power out of the fuel, the Ford V-8 has a light, strong body and chassis so that no power is wasted in moving excess weight.

The only extravagance about the new Ford V-8 engine is in the building of it. The extravagance is ours—the economy is yours.

The whole question of car economy needs clearing up. An economical car gives economy all round. Price, operation, upkeep, all play their part. If what you save on gas you lose elsewhere, that is not economy.

As to upkeep, our dealers say that in recent years the improved quality of Ford cars has cut down their repair business 50 per cent.

As to price with quality,—judge for yourself.

As to economy, here is the record of a stock car three weeks out of shop in Oklahoma:

On a run of 10,054 miles at the rate of 1,000 miles a day—the Ford V-8 gave 18.8 miles per gallon of gas. Not a drop of water was added to the radiator. The oil was changed once in 1,000 miles.

That should answer a lot of questions.

BANKS AND THE PUBLIC

How much of the nation's banking troubles a few months ago would have been avoided if the public had been better informed on the subject of banking generally can not, of course, be known.

It is known that many banks which were in sound condition were forced to close temporarily or threatened with this step because of lack of confidence on the part of their depositors. Knowledge makes for confidence. If the depositors had known the condition of the sound institution holding their money there would have been no run.

It follows that to promote public confidence ought to be the policy of banks generally. The best way to accomplish this, thinks H. A. Lyon, banker and president of the Financial Advertisers' association, is through advertising.

Emphasizing that the public has a right to know what is done with its money, he says banks should give this information in an attractive and easily understandable way. As an illustration that many persons have little if any idea of how their money in bank is used, he refers to an experience of President Roosevelt.

When President Roosevelt made his address at the close of the bank moratorium, he said, "he is said to have received immediately 15,000 commendatory messages, a large proportion of which spoke of simple statement that a bank did not put the depositor's money in a vault, but that it further committed it in the press confirmed impression that this was a very large number of people; I submit that it is probably a point on which bankers believed that the public was thoroughly misled. Additional evidence as to public lack of knowledge concerning banks is abundant."

All banks at irregular intervals do publish "statements of condition." These, however, are not understood by most persons, and if they were generally understood, not all the information depositors might have contained in them. Lyon advises banks to make the public, explain in an attractive understandable way their position in the community, the necessity for their service and the history of their functions.

He believes such a policy will serve to build up public confidence and thus strengthen the position of the banks.

NO HOPE.

It was too good to be true. It was our nature more cynical than trusting, we might have been a party to the hopes of the pedestrian only to see them dashed by the very things we sweetly and innocently believed to be his. It is an experience which may warp somewhat the essential goodness of man.

To say, it is only a few weeks since it was reported that the great good men who are commended with the control of traffic hither and yon heard with tear-dimmed eyes the pleas of pedestrians for a square division of the way. Uplifted and comforted by that seeming division of man's attributes we gushed with praise and thanksgiving. We effervesced with contemplation of the wheels of crushing traffic, cent of the deaths from all meet.

Dobb to An Unknown Lady.
I do not know the lady's name,
Or was she maid or wedded wife.
I only know she lightly came Across my little path of life
And smiled and vanished then and there.
And I remember she was fair.
'Twas no flirtation! I was sick
And thinking thoughts of business gloom;
My clouds of doubt were growing thick.
I had forgot that roses bloom
And was a prey to sullen wrath
When youth and beauty crossed my path.
I think she smiled! I couldn't swear.
Of course, to such a startling
truth.
I only know that then and there
I caught a glimpse of rosy youth
And fancied as she disappeared
My little patch of sky had cleared.
I do not know the lady's name,
Nor shall it ever hence be learned.
I only know that as she came Across my way my thoughts were turned.
And head up on my way I strode,
Discovering blossoms by the road.

TRAFFIC MENACE

One by one states are legislating "One-Eyed Charlie" off the highways. For those who do not associate the name with the subject, it is explained that "One-Eyed Charlie" is the motorist who drives with only one light burning.

It is evident that this "half-blind" user of the highways represents a traffic hazard. Even at close range an automobile with one light out of operation may be mistaken for a motorcycle by the driver of a passing car and there is no way of ascertaining on which side the good light is.

Not all motorists caught on the road with one headlight out are negligent. Electric bulbs and wiring are not infallible nor do they endure eternally, and the light that fails doesn't always choose the time and place where its default can be discovered and repaired immediately.

Most motorists, for the protection of themselves and others, do not postpone the replacement of the burned out bulb longer than necessary, but it is apparent that there are others who thoughtlessly keep going as long as they have one light in operation and do not run afoul of other vehicles or the strong arm of the law. Motorists who deliberately and knowingly operate their machines without two efficient headlights and a rear light make necessary laws which work hardships upon not only themselves, but upon those who would not knowingly drive without the required quota of lights. Legislation should not be necessary to persuade all automobile owners to keep their lights in operation and to carry a set of replacement or auxiliary bulbs, as it requires under some state motor laws.

President Roosevelt insisted that economic conferences stick to economics so Europe had to recall her politicians.

The work of stabilizing industry and business would make more headway if others would act first.

Unfortunately, the things that afford us the most pleasure are the pleasures we can't afford.

You can't do business with the School of Experience on a charge account.

What this country needs is more country cousins to visit at this time of year.

Among the poor that are always with us are poor magazine stories.

Haste makes waste, and speed costs lives.

of what seemed to be a victory for that step-child of fortune, the pedestrian.

It was entirely premature. We were victims of our all too eager credulity. We were swept away by our uninhibited emotions. Today the harassed pedestrian finds his path made steeper and rougher in some cities by traffic rules placing him in a class with his mortal enemy, the motor vehicle, and elsewhere his few remaining rights are being taken from him under the threat of extermination under the wheels of crushing traffic.

CLASSIFYING HIM

DRIVERS WHO IMBIBE

The automobile driver who drinks to excess is the terror of the road. Death and disaster follow in his wake. But should any driver even taste liquor while he is operating a motor vehicle? Few will answer in the affirmative, and there are some who will contend that the moderate drinker becomes a menace to public safety when he is behind the wheel.

It is undoubtedly a fact that even a little liquor often upsets the balance and normal attitude of the mind, and affects the driver's operation of a motor car unfavorably. Liquor makes some persons confident. From other persons it takes away confidence and makes them doubtful and hesitating. Liquor does not mix well with the driving of a motor vehicle.

A motor car or truck is not improperly called a private locomotive. The driver has to undergo training to operate a machine that weighs a ton and can develop a speed in excess of a mile a minute. If it is essential that locomotive engineers abstain from liquor, then it is essential that drivers of motor cars, which have no rails to keep them in their course, abstain from intoxicating drink. The driver of a car should deny himself the use of liquor whether he rides alone or is responsible for the safety of others.

Probably the most difficult case to treat is that of the driver who does not get drunk with the intention of operating a motor vehicle while in that condition. And these cases seem to predominate. Those who must have their intoxicants should leave their cars in the garage.

SCOURGE

Because the medical world shows a thoroughly justifiable caution regarding "cancer cures," of which there have been so many fakes, physicians investigate cancer treatments until satisfied that they are or are not of some good before accepting them into the body of medical practice.

The extent to which cancer is to be dreaded may be discerned from figures recently given a senate committee. Twenty years ago cancer stood eighth in the list of death causes. Today it has advanced to second place. The total number of deaths caused each year in the United States by cancer is 120,000. The disease is responsible for 10 per cent of the deaths from all meet.

FLOOD-RIDDEN CHINA

China again is engaged in battling one of its ancient enemies.

Millions of lives are endangered by waters of the Hwang and Yangtze rivers which have left their banks and are inundating cities and countryside. Crowds pack the temples to pray and burn incense, and in some places Buddhists are hauled through the streets to permit those unable to enter the temples to intercede for preservation from the rising waters.

Flood and famine long have preyed at irregular intervals on this unhappy country. It is almost a rare occurrence for the people not to be fighting one or the other of these or seeking to check foreign aggression.

The number of lives lost in floods and famines runs into the millions. Dykes have been constructed along the streams given to overflowing their banks with disastrous results, but neither these nor their gods have saved the people from fresh outbreaks. Greater engineering skill than that yet brought to bear upon the problem might prove effective in conquering the flood peril, but this remains to be tried. The people seem satisfied to place their trust in dykes and prayers.

If the country ever becomes united under a stable government, flood-control probably will be tackled as the major domestic problem. It is not to be believed that the Chinese will be content forever to remain in peril of untamed rivers.

causes. In a large percentage of cases—at least 30 per cent—the disease is hopeless from the onset, and there are between 300,000 and 500,000 cancer cases at all times.

These statistics become a little less alarming and depressing when it is remembered that cancer is a disease of maturity and old age and that it is finding more bodies to work upon because of the lengthening of man's life span and appears increasingly more malignant by comparison with other diseases because medical science and public sanitation are fast conquering the others.

Science must stamp out this dread malady. It is to this day and age what the plagues were to other ages.

It is easy to mistake ignorance for a good disposition.

A fool and his money are often parted before they meet.

BLONDE MARTYRS

Hydrographic records of changes in humidity at McGill University, Montreal, testify to the martyrdom of several unbobbed blondes of that dominion metropolis. Theirs is a personal sacrifice for science.

None but fine golden hairs can be used on the delicate instrument that records hourly changes in humidity. The hair of brunettes is too coarse. So scientists prefer blondes.

Sensitive instruments are not to be condemned for preferring blondes but they are asking a lot in this day of platinum blondes, peroxide blondes, beach blondes and perfect blondes when they demand blonde strands a yard long. And yet the supply seems unlimited.

If there is such a thing as chivalry in science the blondes who keep the hydrograph hygrographic ought to be rewarded. Clear days for jelly making and moonlit nights for love making should be their portion. And if science is grateful it will not delve too deeply and publicly into the possible relationship between the known inconstancy of the weather and the reputed inconstancy of blondes.

NEW WEATHER FORECASTING.

Because of the prominence of those connected with the movement, announcement that a group of scientists have found a new weather-forecasting system which has proved to be 96.1 per cent correct arouses more than ordinary interest.

Among those credited with contributing to the discovery is Dr. Robert A. Milliken, internationally known for his scientific achievements.

The new system, it was said, makes possible the forecasting of weather conditions in all parts of the country by from 24 to 48 hours. The method now in use by the federal service is rated at only about 65 per cent satisfactory. The new plan makes use of cold and warm air masses. By studying the movements of these, the observers are able to make forecasts.

TELEGRAMS POUR IN TO ROOSEVELT THAT EMPLOYERS WILL AID

PRESIDENT GOES TO PEOPLE WITH MESSAGE ON BLANKET RECOVERY CODE

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—President Roosevelt was represented at the white house today as exceedingly encouraged by the immediate response to his summons for employers to raise wages and shorten working hours. Even before mid-morning, at most 3,000 pledges of support for his course were stacked on desks in the executive offices.

More arrived at the industrial recovery administration, where Hugh Johnson, the chief of the "honor roll" of those enlisting in the campaign. These lists, as the president disclosed last night, are to be posted in postoffice for public scrutiny.

Meanwhile, hearings on competitive "codes" for the oil, lumber, wool and rayon weaving industries progressed with attempts by federal agents to have labor and the employers agree on a code.

The president was said to be noting most particularly the reaction of the smaller employers to his night appeal. Upon them he believes now rests the big burden of carrying through the campaign for mass re-employment and increased purchasing power.

Arrangements to dispatch copies of the federally-devised general code to 5,000,000 employers as rapidly as possible proceeded apace in a number of quarters.

Ralph T. Zook, president of the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association, appealed to a minimum of 100,000 employers to write into any petroleum trade practice plan a protection for the "stripper wells," which are wells on the pump draining the last bit from a field.

Urges Fixed Price. Zook testified at a hearing on proposed principles of competition to govern the oil industry.

Authorization for federal fixation of oil prices was endorsed there by a group of independent distributors.

The wool hearings were wound up with a promise of speedy decision by Deputy Administrator A. D. Whiteside.

An important amendment offered by the manufacturers provides that no employer would receive a smaller wage under the proposed code than he was now receiving for a longer week.

Meeting with his "recovery council" composed of the cabinet and chiefs of various important divisions of the administration, Roosevelt called for full report of progress during the last week.

By JAMES COPE Associated Press Staff Writer WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—A flood of telegraphed pledges, hundreds upon hundreds of them, answered today President Roosevelt's appeal to the nation for immediate enrollment of all employers under the plan to raise wages and create new jobs.

Hardly had he finished last night the plain-worded, direct call for patriotic and unquestioning acceptance of the new plan when individual employer-pledges to raise pay and shorten hours before the answers began to come in. Within an hour 300 promises had come, a few more minutes and the number doubled and there appeared no end to the flow.

The president and Hugh S. Johnson, the man who is running the industrial recovery unit, were reported profoundly gratified. A white house secretary said it was the greatest spontaneous outburst that had greeted any of the president's utterances.

His appeal was terse: "If all are not going through another winter like the last, it is time for courageous action, and the recovery bill gives us the means to conquer unemployment."

"The proposition is simply this: 'If all employers voluntarily agree to shorten hours and raise wages we can put people back to work. No employer will suffer, because the relative level of competitive cost will advance by the same amount for all. But if a considerable group should lag or shirk, this great opportunity will pass us by and we will go into another desperate winter. This must not happen.'

"I ask that even before the dates set in the agreements which we have sent out, the employers of the country who have not already done so, the big fellows and the little fellows—write or telegraph to me personally at the white house, expressing their intention of going through with the plan."

He did, big fellows and little. One of the big ones was H. V. S. Firestone, who pledged to put the program into effect immediately.

While the mass movement was on, beating the gun that the campaign which gets under way officially day after tomorrow and seeks to have six million men reemployed by Labor day, with increased wages for those who now have jobs, Johnson and his corps of lieutenants worked away at collection of difficult problems—continued and new hearings on general codes of fair competition for oil, lumber, wool weaving and rayon weaving industries; complaints of widespread discrimination by industries against union sympathizers; puzzling requests for interpretations of the blanket re-employment agreement.

New Committee Named To deal with demands for clarification of the "blanket code," a special committee headed by Gen. Thomas H. Hammond, new director of the re-employment campaign, was set up. Questions should be sent direct to him, and will be answered personally.

The president's address served clear warning that selfish interest is not going to let stand in the way of the re-employment plan. There are, of course, men, a few of them, who might thwart the great common purpose by seeking selfish advantage," he said. "There are adequate penalties."

WORK COMPLETING SETUP FOR NAVARRO COUNTY RELIEF

Members of the county advisory board were in the western section of the county attending in completing the relief setup, Alan C. Love, county administrator for the Texas relief commission, announced Tuesday. Meanwhile every effort was being made to complete the reorganization of local relief.

The following community chairman of relief activities were announced Tuesday:
Kerens—J. E. Reese.
Richland—H. C. Davis.
Powell—H. H. Hank.
Chaffield—Jim Mirell.
Mildred—L. D. Adams.

Chairmen in other communities will be announced with the next few days. The law which the people in those sections have made to apply to their local chairman for assistance and not to the central office in Corsicana.

ties in the law, but I am now asking for cooperation that comes from opinion and common sense. These are the only instruments we shall use in this great summer offensive against unemployment.

"But we shall use them to the limit to protect the coming from the laggard and to make the plan succeed."

With this statement he joined the following:
"You can look on every employer who adopts the plan as one who is doing his part, and those employers deserve well of every one who works for a living. It will be clear to you, as it is to me, that while the shirking employer may undersell his competitor, the saving he thus makes is made at the expense of his country's welfare."

It was a deliberate 'urging to patronize only establishments on the "Roll of Honor," those that have the right to display the blue eagle with the legend: "We Do Our Part."

The president headed a number of requests for a word to labor against stirring up strife.

"While we are making this great common effort there should be no discord and dispute. This is no time to quarrel or to question the standard set by this national agreement. It is time for patience and understanding and cooperation."

The workers of this country have rights under the law which cannot be taken away from them, and nobody will be permitted to whittle them away but, on the other hand, no aggression is now necessary to attain those rights."

To Start Delivery Agreements Thursday

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—Starting Thursday, letter carriers will begin delivering to 5,000,000 employers the proposed agreement between Roosevelt voluntarily to raise wages and limit hours of work.

Immediately upon receipt the employers have been asked to sign them and return them to the President.

They become effective on August 1 or any time after they are signed.

Upon presentation of the agreement at the local postoffice, the employers will receive the National Recovery Administration's insignia bearing the initials N. R. A. an eagle and underneath the inscription "We Do Our Part."

This is intended to be displayed prominently by all co-operating businesses.

The month of August ends the voluntary part of the plan. Beginning September 1, the President, under authority of the recovery act, can order into hearings all industries which have not by then submitted wage and hour codes.

After these, arbitrary limitations can be fixed.

Waco Gets In Line. WACO, July 25.—(AP)—A flood of telegrams pledging the co-operation of employers in President Roosevelt's blanket code plan began to pour in today. The President's radio address last night and continued today.

Newspaper In Line. PARSONS, Mo., July 25.—(AP)—Former Governor Clyde M. Reed, editor of the Parsons Sun, today sent a telegram to President Roosevelt saying "My newspaper subscribes fully to your program for recovery. We announce a 35-hour week today."

Alabama Paper Responds. TUSCALOOSA, Ala., July 25.—(AP)—Bruce Sholta, publisher of the Tuscaloosa News, today telegraphed President Roosevelt the news that he had established maximum hours and minimum wages and advised the chief executive that the daily newspapers in Alabama had been requested to follow suit.

FIRST BALE 1933 COTTON WAS GINNED HERE LATE MONDAY

BALE BROUGHT TO CORNICANA BY M. M. LORD OF PISCAGH RIDGE

M. M. Lord, who lives on the C. E. Love farm in the Piscagh Ridge community, brought the first bale of the 1933 cotton crop to Corsicana late Monday afternoon, July 24, ten days earlier than the first bale in 1932 which was brought in on August 4 by Lonnie King of the Phillips Chapel community. The new bale was ginned by A. G. Smith and weighed at the Corsicana Warehouse. It weighed 675 pounds.

Mr. Lord has won the first bale honors three times since 1920 when a record of first bales was started by the Corsicana Daily Sun. In 1929 Mr. Lord brought the first bale of the 1930 crop to Corsicana on July 22 and in 1928 he was first on August 7.

The first bale of the 1932 crop to be ginned in Navarro county was ginned in Corsicana on August 1 and was raised by P. H. Butler, however the first bale of the 1933 crop to be brought to Corsicana was raised by Lonnie King and ginned on August 4.

First honors in 1931 went to J. E. Horton and the bale was ginned August 8. J. T. Cavender was first in 1930 when he brought a bale to Corsicana on July 26. The first bale was brought in on August 3 by W. A. Cavender who also brought in the first bale in 1925 on July 13, the earliest since records have been kept. In 1924 S. B. Sawyer was first in a bale on August 16, the latest since the records were started.

Henry Thornton was winner in 1924 with a bale on August 5. In 1923 the first bale went to W. M. Archer on July 30 and in 1922 M. F. Wilson was winner. His bale was ginned August 3. Ike Keyser brought the first bale to Corsicana on August 3, 1921 and R. S. Atkinson was first in 1920 on July 28.

SHREVEPORT, La., July 27.—(P)—Floods following in the wake of four days of rain that deluged Louisiana with heavy damage to crops drove lowlanders to the hill country today and the Red Cross sent food to marooned families.

Rail and highway traffic was demoralized over wide areas and water stood as deep as twenty feet in some of the rural sections of central and north Louisiana as the rain slackened.

Approximately 250 residents of the lowlands around Shreveport were driven from their homes by high water. Numerous trunk highways were impassable.

London will again be the seat of the discussions of the American proposal to restrict wheat production when the delegations meet together again nearly four weeks hence.

CONFERENCE

day ripped the labels of "failure" from the world economic conference which many delegates were busily affixing by their speeches at the final plenary session.

The President's note, which Secretary of State Cordell Hull read to the assembled delegates, came as a climax to a morning of speeches, most of which were critical.

The session was adjourned until 3 p. m. as soon as the communication was read. Mr. Hull was scheduled to speak during the afternoon meeting.

Far from the bickering and squabbling of London during the last six weeks, Roosevelt gave the delegates a perspective of the world they have done here and told them that "results are not always measured in terms of formal agreement."

With an interchange of views on the better understanding by nations of the problems of other countries, he said, adding that he does not regard the world congress as a failure.

The President's message enabled the conference to adjourn for lunch in buoyant spirits instead of under the heavy atmosphere of continued criticism which speaker after speaker had voiced.

The President's cheering words to Mr. MacDonald came after Jean Maisky, Russian ambassador at London and head of the U. S. S. R. delegation, had launched a round-faced Soviet diatribe against the conference.

"The practical results of the first session of the world economic conference have been zero," declared the round-faced Soviet diplomat. "A smile played around his lips as if he enjoyed his denunciations."

"A comparatively small shock may be sufficient to let loose the terrible disaster of war," he exclaimed after outlining his views that the conference had failed.

Warnings of New War.
After declaring that Russia today is the most important factor in international peace, the Soviet ambassador said that "peace is essential also to all other countries in order to save them from the horrors and ruin of a new war, the dimensions of which will far surpass the terrible experience of 1914-1918."

James M. Cox of Ohio made it clear to the conference that the United States program of domestic recovery must come before the work of international conferences.

Declaring that much was heard about nationalistic enterprises as hindrances to the parley, the former Ohio governor said:

"This is a development which must be regarded with patient understanding. Nations intensively devoting their energies to putting their houses in order are not dealing primarily with either monetary or economic problems."

"It is a social question, pure and simple, and it is a wise nation that regards the social order as its first duty."

Runciman Speaks.
Walter Runciman, chairman of the British board of trade, followed Cox. He said the economic commission of the conference accomplished "some very valuable exploration."

Reviewing the work of each sub-committee, he stated: "All this may be and is less than had been hoped for."

A League of Nations spokesman said the earliest time any action is likely to be taken to resume the work of the parley may be mid-September, when a committee of the present situation may be summoned to London.

Speaking with unusual candor for an international conference, Premier Hendrik Clijn of Holland, head of the economic commission, declared:

"Results of the world economic conference are highly disappointing, and what is more, dangerous as well."

Not Unduly Pessimistic.
Claiming to be not unduly pessimistic, Premier Clijn declared the failure to achieve results may well lead to an aggravation of the present situation, and the situation may change for the worse in some countries.

With Clijn and Cox having reported on the work of the two main committees, economic and monetary, MacDonald opened the discussion to the delegates.

Finance Minister Jung of Italy said the frankness with which the problems were discussed would be of permanent value, even if they resulted in a postponement of the negotiations.

Neville Chamberlain, British chancellor of the exchequer, began by saying, let us not attribute the blame to any one for the inability of the conference to discuss the full agenda proposed by the league of nations preparatory committee.

Then the chancellor made it clear that his view was that the inability of the United States to continue a discussion of currency stabilization or an eventual return to the gold standard or an international monetary standard made the full work of the conference impossible.

Tariff Question.
He declared that Great Britain had taken full note of Hull's proposal for a continuation of a truce on tariff changes and reduction of tariffs by bilateral and multilateral agreements and intended to give these proposals the deepest study during the recess.

"However, countries which have high tariffs must take the initiative," Chamberlain added.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the German Reichsbank, told the conference that no one in particular was to blame for the fact that in six weeks the parley at most none of the subjects on its agenda. After saying that committee resolutions were merely generalizations and recommendations, he maintained the mistake is in the system.

The idea of regulating simultaneously conditions in 86 entirely different countries proved to be impracticable, he said, citing as an example the question of currency stabilization.

Text of Roosevelt's Message MacDonald

LONDON, July 27.—(P)—The following is the text of a message sent by President Roosevelt to Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, chairman of the world economic conference today.

"I want you to know my sincere admiration and respect for your courage and your patience in view of the conference's presiding office."

"I feel that because of it the nations of the world can continue to discuss mutual problems with frankness and without rancor. Results are not always measured in terms of formal agreements. They can come equally from a free presentation of each nation's difficulties and each nation's methods to meet its individual needs."

"We in the United States understand the problems of other nations better today than before the conference met, and we trust that other nations will in the same spirit of good will view our American policies which are aimed at overcoming our unprecedented economic situation at home."

"Such an interchange, especially if it results in full discussion of all problems and not a few only, makes progress more and not less possible in the future."

"That is why I do not regard the economic conference as a failure. Largely because of your tact and perseverance the larger and more prominent problems will continue to be analyzed and discussed."

"You recognize with me that new adjustments are necessary to the world and national conditions which have never existed before in history. You can count on our continued efforts toward world rehabilitation because we are convinced that continuation of the world economic conference will result in practical good in many fields of joint endeavor."

DEATH PENALTY

Kas, and McGee's brother, George, later was arrested at Roanoke, Va. Both face trial on kidnapping charges.

More than half the ransom was recovered, from the three men arrested.

Acting in an advisory capacity, Joseph B. Keenan, special assistant United States Attorney General, aided in the prosecution. Federal indictments were returned against the McGee brothers and Clark because Miss McElroy was taken from Missouri to Kansas by the kidnappers.

McGee showed no emotion what family was in court when the verdict was read. The prospective jurors who will decide the fate of McGee's brother were rushed into a corridor while the jury's verdict was read.

Informing at her home that the death penalty had been assessed against McGee, Miss McElroy said:

"I hope this will prevent further kidnappings."

Ralph T. Harding, defense attorney, requested Judge Allen C. Southern to ask the jurors if anyone had approached them during their deliberations.

The jurors replied that no one had.

Trial Postponed.
Although venturers were being questioned in preparation for the selection of a jury for the trial of George McGee when the verdict against his brother was returned this morning, Judge Southern postponed the trial two weeks at the request of defense counsel.

The state already has announced it will demand the death penalty.

Meanwhile Kansas City, Kas., police were searching for the body of Mrs. Mary Weakley, a widow, whom they described as the fiancée of Clarence Stevens, sought as one of the McElroy kidnappers. They believe Mrs. Weakley committed suicide last night by jumping into the Kaw river.

Two notes indicating she intended to commit suicide were found by detectives at Mrs. Weakley's home after her hat and a pocketbook were found on a bridge over the river.

Will Stop Kidnaping.
KANSAS CITY, July 27.—(P)—"Justice has been done," exclaimed H. F. McElroy, when told a jury had recommended death as the punishment for Walter McGee in the kidnapping of McElroy's daughter.

"Other criminals with kidnapping tendencies," said the city manager, "will undoubtedly hesitate in the face of this verdict."

"I am glad the kidnaping was ended," said Eugene C. Reppert, director of police, who personally took a part in running down the kidnap gang.

"This will eliminate kidnaping in Kansas City."

14 next Sunday. Bring your lunch and enjoy a full day of singing. We will have Combs Quartette, The Matthews Sisters and a Vaughn trio, and we also have Mr. Huffstutler's quartet from Dallas.

Also good singers from Navarro, Limestone, Leon and Freestone counties. Auditorium will seat you and is plenty cool with electric fans. L. G. GRAYSON, Chairman.

TULSA YMCA CAMP CABIN DEDICATED TO GORDON CARR

TULSA, Okla., July 23.—Cabin seven at the Camp E. Rogers near Tulsa, Y. M. C. A. camp near Grove, Okla., today was dedicated to the memory of Gordon Carr, Corsicana youth killed while hitch-hiking to Yellowstone park two months ago, who last year was cabin leader of that cabin.

More than 80 boys, parents, and Y. M. C. A. officials joined in the memorial service to Carr preceding the unveiling of a wooden arrowhead-shaped plaque bearing his name.

"I regarded Gordon as my very own," said Hastings Harrison, general secretary of the Tulsa Y. M. C. A. in relating the moving story of how he had met 10-year-old "Paper King" Carr in a Corsicana alley 13 years ago. "I looked on his life as an answer to the question 'How far can a boy from humble surroundings who is possessed of an honest heart and a wholesome ambition go in this world?'"

"I do not see why his death had to be, but I do know that he had achieved character. He could not have had a better character if he had lived to be 100. The objective of life is to achieve a noble direction. Gordon Carr had achieved this direction. He was a success."

John McKibben and Robert Schwabe, cabin mates of Carr last year, added their brief tributes, and Jim Bob Mallory, another cabin-mate unveiled the plaque.

HOT WEATHER TREATMENTS

For The Hot Day. The skin always functions prettily well in the hot days, but you must be careful of one thing—relaxed muscles. Miss Forbes tells how to use astringents in the hot weather.

As the skin grows relaxed, and frequently too oily during the hot weather a very good treatment is to use a skin tonic twice, or even three times a day. A skin tonic can be bought for almost any price you want to pay. You can buy quite a large bottle of a most excellent brand for 30c. Or you can pay three or four dollars for practically the same amount put up by some higher priced firm. Or you can be even more economical and buy yourself a large bottle of witch-hazel and so have enough astringent lotion to last you over the summer for considerably less than one dollar.

Use this astringent by wetting a small pad of cotton, squeezing it as dry as you can afterward, soak this in the tonic and wipe over your face and neck, paying particular attention to the part under the chin and the back of the neck. This can be done in the morning and it will cleanse the face and stimulate the skin, and put it in excellent condition for both powder and make-up. The foundation creams that you need in cold weather are not necessary during the hot days for the skin will exude enough oil to give the proper base for any face powder. Later in the day, when you take off your makeup you can use skin tonic again. A small wad of cotton, soaked in hot water is a very pleasant means of removing make-up. Whatever dirt is left on the skin can be removed by using another cotton pad wet with the skin tonic.

1933 CROP TUESDAY

WORTHAM, July 26.—(Sp.)—Wortham received her first bale of the season's cotton Tuesday. The cotton was raised by Sam Beldin on his farm two miles northeast of Wortham. The bale weighed 440 pounds—1300 pounds of seed cotton.

The bale was bought by Sim Bouds, Wortham cotton buyer at 10 1/2c per pound. The cotton was ginned by the Mungier Gin Co. A fine premium was given by the Wortham merchants.

Wortham's first bale last year was received August 7, and ginned by the Lindley & Posey Ginning Co., and was raised by Ernest Boyd on his farm three miles south of Wortham. At this time Mr. Boyd had brought Wortham's first bale of cotton for three consecutive years.

FORMAL CONTRACTS IN COTTON PLAN IN COUNTY RECEIVED

FORMAL ACCEPTANCES OF
165 REDUCTION CONTRACTS
HAVE BEEN RECEIVED

Approximately 165 formal acceptances of Navarro county cotton acreage reduction contracts have been approved by the Washington office and returned to the county committee, according to County Agent C. C. Morris.

The contracts were received about noon Wednesday and the original signers will be notified of their acceptance through the inspecting committees, as soon as the proper forms for the remainder of the procedure are received, the agent announced. The contracts will be handled by the district committee in the same manner in which they were secured. Additional contracts are expected at almost daily intervals now, and within a few days checks for the destroyed acreage are expected to begin making their appearance in the county.

Meanwhile, demand for the emergency permit blanks are growing, the county committee reported, and several communities have asked for additional blanks to care for the requests.

County Agent Morris announced Wednesday that these emergency permits will be secured from the committee which secured the contract in the various sections of the county and not from the offices of the county committee in the chamber of commerce building.

Farmers in several sections were reported busily engaged Wednesday in plowing up their cotton acreage under the terms of the emergency wages.
